DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

From the N. Y. World.

"RECONSTRUCTION" HALTING ON THE THRESHOLD.

In order to appreciate the political comedy which is now being played, it is necessary to keep in mind that the party which was represented in Crosby's Opera House is the very same party which bears sway in the National Capitol. When an English parson who also acted as a justice of the peace (which is quite common in England) was heard by one of his parishioners using profane oaths, he replied to the reproof of the amazed rustic, "I did not swear as a clergyman but as a magistrate." "But," retorted the other, "when the Devil gets the magistrate, what will become of the clergyman?" The Republican party cannot escape responsibility for its acts by distinguishing what it says as a National Convention and what it does as a Congress. When the party represented at Washington is rowed up Salt River, what will become of the party represented at Chicago?

The Republican party is aware that the country holds it responsible for the long delay in restoring the Union. The country expected, and was entitled to expect, that when the war ended the Union would be immediately restored. If, in the elections of 1865, the people had believed that the Republican party would keep the Union dismembered for so long a period, they would have indignantly swept it out of power. The party was sensible at Chicago that its hollow excuses will be no longer accepted, and, to save the necessity of repealing them, it put in the forefront of its platform a declaration that the Union has been restored. Instead of apologies it tendered the country congratulations.

The impudent absurdity of such congratulations is put to shame by what is now transpiring in Congress. If reconstruction is an achieved success, as was declared at Chicago, why is the Senate debating on the admission of the excluded States? Why are some of the most zealous Radicals stiffly opposing their admission? Such a debate is a superfluous contutation of the Chicago declaration, and brands it as a shameless, empty boast. Even if Arkansas and the other States should be admitted with their bastard governments, it would be in no proper sense a restoration of the Union; but when nothing has been consummated, and ten States are still excluded from Congress, the language of exultation and tender of congratulations only proves what the Republican party need to have true in coming before the country to ask a still further indorsement. The false boast, impudent and insulting though it is, is an acknowledgement of the duty which the Republican party ought to have performed, but has not.

Judging from debate, it is still a question with some of the Republican members of the Senate, whether the Southern States ought to be re-admitted at all previous to the Presidential election. Congress is likely to adjourn early, and if it disperses without admitting them, they can take no part in the election of the next President, any more than they did in the election of the last. Presidential Electors can only be chosen under the direction and superintendence of a valid State government; and if the new governments do not receive the sanction of Congress previous to adjournment, it would seem to follow that the people cannot legally choose Presidential Electors.

The Republicans at Washington are probably meditating a gigantic fraud on the South and the country. There are partisans among them unscrupulous enough to try to put things in such a shape that the form of an election will be held, but its legality be open to question, so that the counting of the Southern votes may not be decided until it is known whether they are needed, and seen on which side they are given. The language of the Reconstruction Acts is well adapted to this scandalous game. It provides that the States shall be admitted when Congress has approved their constitutions and when the Fourteenth Constitutional Amendment, being approved by them, shall become a part of the Constitution. If the strict letter of this law is complied with, the States will not be admitted at present. Congress may nevertheless give the new governments some sort of a quasi indorsement, and permit them to go into operation provisionally. Under such circumstances, they would go through the form of choosing Presidential Electors, especially since delegates from these States were admitted into the Chicago Convention. If the ten States should return more Democratic than Republican Electors they would not be counted, unless the Republican party found that it had succeeded in spite of such adverse votes. In that event, they might make a pretence of magnanimity and count them.

The reason why Congress stumbles and hesitates is the fear that the Southern States may not, after all—not even with universal negro-suffrage and partial white disfranchisement—be carried by the Republicans. In the greater part of the States the negroes are a minority, and it is quite possible that the Democratic party may draw off negro votes enough to outweigh the carpet-bag whites. If an election is held, the Democrats will go into it with more activity and vigor than have been displayed in Southern politics since the close of the war; and their superior intelligence, energy, and political talents will tell powerfully upon the result. Moreover, the negroes and the carpet-baggers will feel the force of new motives.—The officers of the new governments are as mercenary a set of demagogues as ever existed. From the moment the States are admitted, those demagogues will have to please a different set of masters. Their future hold of power will not depend on the approval of a Radical Congress at Washington, but on the voluntary support of the people over whom they rule.—The possession of office will naturally generate social ambition, and social standing is not attainable in the South by thwarting the wishes of the cultivated classes.—Even the negroes will be subject to new influences. When they are no longer fed and managed by the Freedmen's Bureau, they can be taught to look through different eyes. The question will no longer be whether they shall vote, but what use they will make of the ballot now they have it; and having got from the Republican party all it has to give them, many will be brought to see that hereafter their interests are identical with those of their section. The Republican leaders do not all regard it as a sure thing that the admission of the Southern States will benefit the party in the Presidential election, and their misgivings on this point explain the hesitation at Washington which makes the exultant boast at Chicago seem so ridiculous. The declaration at Chicago exhibits the face which the party thinks it necessary to present to the people; the floundering at Washington betrays the knavery which the Radical leaders would not scruple to practice if they thought it would conduce to their success or save them from ruin. It is a question with them whether they would gain more by fully restoring the Union (after their fashion), or by playing fast and loose and keeping things in such a shape that they can count the Southern votes or not, according to party exigencies. The Democratic party detests their bogus governments and is opposed to their recognition; but if the States are brought in with them, we do not despair of carrying all the Southern States but two.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens, from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

OUR POSITION.

The condition of the South, politically and pecuniarily, is a deplorable one. Politically, we are positively impotent to relieve ourselves, nor are we much better prepared to improve our condition, speedily, in a pecuniary sense. We have quietly submitted to the "powers that be," and complied with the requisitions of the party in authority, to the letter. Indeed, we have gone farther than law and right and justice demanded, and have borne, as well as we could, the unjust interferences of those in power with our time-honored customs and social habitudes, and the most provoking discriminations against the white race,—and yet no relief has come to our disturbed and distracted country. The Radical party has demanded control, with pledges to give peace and prosperity to the country—they have had things their own way, and the cloud grows thicker and more threatening.

The Southern people who desire peace and prosperity, and who are anxious for the restoration of law and of the Constitution, are, therefore, shut up to the necessity of making their appeal to the Democratic and Conservative masses of the North, organized beneath the banners of the National Democratic party, under the guidance of Providence, for deliverance from oppression and for rescue and restoration. They are pledged to afford us relief, if successful in breaking the yoke of Radicalism, and it becomes us, while we should be patient, and cautious, and quiet, under the hand of the oppressor, to co-operate, as far as we can, in aiding our friends of the North to effect their patriotic designs.

The Southern people have been invited to co-operate with them. They have been assured that delegates from the Southern States would be welcome in the National Democratic Convention. This proffer has been made in good faith, and it becomes us to accept it in the proper spirit. We have been asked, "What should be the course of the Southern delegates in that Convention?" It is not our province to answer that question for the many able men who have been elected from the South. They know, far better than we can suggest, how they ought to act. Yet it may not be unbecoming in us to give an opinion.

Southern delegates have been asked to co-operate. They will be received cordially, but our people are modest in their demands, and will not forget their position and circumstances in that body. We believe that our Southern delegates will readily conceive, that, to the Northern people, alone, represented in that Convention, belong the right and the responsibility of effecting such an organization as will suit them—the laying down such a platform as they can stand upon, and the selection of such banner-bearers as they can fight under and conquer with. If victory over Radicalism comes, the honor and the glory of the victory will be due to the Democratic and Conservative masses of the North, and not to us. It will, therefore, be our province to follow, and not to attempt to lead. Nor shall we go into that Convention to be bought up by this or that interest. We shall go pledged to no man, or clique or faction, but TO PRINCIPLES.—As to measures and men, the North must choose. Propriety, therefore, will demand, when we are asked by the North, "Who are you for?" to say, "You must choose, you must make the selection, because on you rests the burden of success, and when you have settled definitely among yourselves who is your choice, then we are ready to go with you."

We must not have it said, after the decision is over, as it was said at Chicago, by any man or his friends, "If it had not been for the Southern delegates, or if such and such men had not ploughed with the Southern heifer, such a man would have been selected." This must not be said, nor will it be.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

From what we hear, there is a very general desire, on the part of the delegates elect, and others, in the Southern States, to attend the National Democratic Convention, which meets in New York, on the 4th. of July next. The determination of some, perhaps, will be influenced by the expenses of the trip, and hence a desire has been felt, that arrangements would be made, with the Rail Road and Steamboat Companies, to allow persons attending that Convention to do so at half fare, or one fare going and returning.

We regret to learn, from headquarters, that all efforts to procure such an arrangement have failed. We make this statement, for the information of all parties. Those who attend the Convention may, therefore, expect to pay full fare on the usual routes of travel.

The Steam packet lines from Norfolk, Newbern, Wilmington and Charleston are running with great dispatch and promptness, their charges are much lower than those on the inland routes, and a sea trip at that season would be desirable and beneficial.

We saw to day a Butcher Knife, made from the sword point of the gallant Colonel Forbes, who was killed at the battle of Guilford C. H., March 15th., 1781. Some lover of relics should secure this.—Greensboro Times.

It is a reflection upon the "lovers of relics," that they did not secure the sword as a relic, and prevent the prostitution of the sword into a "butcher knife."

IT IS CONFIDENTLY predicted that the Legislature of Georgia will elect two Democrats to the United States Senate.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

We feel thoroughly persuaded that, in all that we urged against the new Constitution of North Carolina, during the late campaign, we did not exaggerate the evils which will accumulate under its operation. All the indications point to the speedy recognition and acceptance of the instrument by Congress. We observe that Mr. Senator Wilson has spoken of it in terms of high eulogy. We dare say that it pleases him. His whole Senatorial career has exhibited him in the light of a legislator for Africa, rather than America. We dare say, too, that it is a Constitution well enough adapted to the latitude of Massachusetts; but it is not such an one as the people of North Carolina want or would have, if they had the power to refuse it,—nor one at all suited to their condition and requirements. We say the people of North Carolina,—those whom the State has invested with the right of suffrage. As for the negroes, who voted under the unconstitutional enactments of Congress, not one in five of them knew any more what he was voting for, when he voted for the Constitution, than he knew of the Talmud. We now make the prediction that, in less than six months after the Constitution shall have gone into operation, there will be a popular clamor for its amendment in many important particulars,—a clamor which will not be confined to those who opposed its adoption.

The work of organizing the State government, under the provisions of this Constitution, will be a far more difficult and complicated one, than that of organizing an entirely new one out and out, where none had existed before. In the matter of our judicial system, alone, the abolition of the distinction between actions at law and suits in equity will involve an amount of complication and litigation, that cannot be regulated or harmonized in years, if ever. And then the division of a sparsely-settled country into townships, with specific boundaries, jurisdictions, &c., will be such a ridiculous, but, at the same time, complex innovation upon the ideas, customs and associations of our people, that we may expect great confusion and irregularity as the immediate and protracted results. Of the graver evils likely to flow from this detestable Constitution, we have heretofore and often spoken. It is unnecessary to pursue that subject further. We must now deal with things as they unfortunately exist.

We might have some faint hope that the practical operation of the Constitution would be tempered, modified and subdued, if its manipulation and enforcement were entrusted to discreet, patriotic, sensible or friendly agents. But, as matters stand, we have no such expectation. A crazy vessel to sail in is terrible enough, of itself, but a rotten craft, with a very bad and inexperienced crew to manage it, is, under no circumstances, to be trusted,—not even for a short voyage.

But, as we have heretofore said, we will not prejudge matters. If things turn out better than we anticipate, we shall be free to admit that our apprehensions are agreeably disappointed. But we again make the prognostication, that the agitation for change will be speedy and loud. It is obliged to be so. No people, in our judgment, can live contentedly or safely under such a fundamental law, which disregards every precept of prudence, every safeguard of society, and every lesson of wise experience.

THE Journal of Commerce remarks, with reason, that the repeated and emphatic protestations by General Grant of deference for "the will of the people" arouse apprehension, "not merely that the candidate does not mean what he says, but that he means something precisely the opposite. The two Napoleons are the most striking of modern instances of men who professedly worshipped the popular will, until they found the opportunity to dethrone it and put themselves up as objects of national idolatry. Gen. Grant's remark is quite in the style of Napoleon the First or Third, before they had got firmly seated in the saddle of France."

LOUISVILLE COURIER.—This is one of our ablest exchanges and its columns are well filled. Gen. Buckner has removed to Louisville, Kentucky, and has become its Editor.

COL. ST. LEGER GRENFEL.—It will be remembered that this gallant English officer effected his escape from the Dry Tortugas some time since, at the risk of his life, in an open boat setting sail from the Florida reefs to the coast of Cuba. Great uneasiness was felt in regard to his fate, and his escape from the perils of the sea was thought to be almost impossible. We are glad to learn, however, from the Mobile Register, that a letter has been received from him, dated Havana, announcing his safe arrival there, and sending his thanks and acknowledgments for kind treatment to some of the officers at the Tortugas, and stating that he was just about to sail for England. This intelligence will be joyfully received by Colonel Grenfel's many friends throughout the country.

FORNEY AND STEVENS—A PROPHECY.—Writing to one of his "two papers, both daily," on the close of the impeachment trial, Col. Forney, Clerk of the "high court," made this prophecy:

"Should the Senate of the United States fail to convict Andrew Johnson on the accusations of the House, not an electoral vote, with the exception of the vote of West Virginia, Missouri, and Tennessee, will be given to Gen. Grant in the Southeastern States next November."

So Stevens prophesied: That "if the President was not convicted, the Radical candidate would carry but two Northern States—Massachusetts and Vermont."

Florida is to come into the Union with a Governor from Wisconsin, a Congressman from Pennsylvania, U. S. Senators from the Eastern and Western States, and 4 local Legislature made up of negroes and carpet-bagmen, selected "from all the world and the rest of mankind." Great is the reign of carpet-bags, and brilliant the Congressional system of Reconstruction. They who leave their country for their country's good, banished and expelled men, turn up the law-makers of the South, officers of the State, and Senators and Representatives in Congress.

The popular feeling in the State of Tennessee is said to be intensely in favor of Mr. Pendleton.

SENATORIAL COURTESY IN FORMER TIMES. Gen. Blair, in his speech at the unveiling of the Benton statue last week, said:

"Benton belonged to the generation of statesmen which followed the founders of the government. When he entered Congress, Monroe was still President, and some few of the framers of the Constitution were members of the Senate and House. He understood and admired the form of government which these men had assisted in making, and regarded them with a profound veneration which extended to all, and embraced those who belonged to the Federal school of politics as well as those who belonged to the Democratic school to which he was himself attached. Nothing could better exemplify his respectful deference to these men than the account he gives in a letter to his wife of the "reproof" administered to him by Mr. Rufus King, of New York.

He had made a speech in reply to some member, and had spoken with force and animation. "When it was over (he says in his letter) Mr. King, of New York, came and sat down in a chair by me and took hold of my hand and said that he would speak to me as a father—that I had great powers, and that he felt a sincere pleasure in seeing me advance and rise in the world, and that he would take the liberty of warning me against the effect of my temperament when heated by opposition; that under those circumstances I took an authoritative manner, and a look and a tone of defiance, which sat ill upon the older members, and advised me to moderate my manner. 'This,' says Benton, 'was real friendship, enhanced by kindness of manner, and had its effect.' Twenty years afterwards Benton met two sons of Rufus King in Congress, and he relates 'that he was glad to let them both see the sincere respect he had for the memory of their father.'"

THE CROMWELLIAN ERA.—In Cromwell's day, when religious sects and political factions divided and embittered the people of England, that policy which, as the phrase went, should "settle the nation," was the policy that rational minds favored. There were Cavaliers even who, when they found it impossible to restore Charles, were willing to submit to Cromwell as a Dictator.—They were tired of anarchy and strife and wanted peace and order—anything rather than what existed. Such a sentiment is fast growing up in this community. The Southern people never had any faith in the Radical Congress and the Radical reconstruction programme. The Northern people had—but they are fast losing it. They see no prospect of pacification and of prosperity under it. If the Radical politicians at Chicago were willing to take Gen. Grant under the feeble, wishy-washy platform adopted, it was because they knew that the masses of their own party were determined to have him as their candidate, whether with or without a platform. Gen. Grant understands this fully; hence he treats the platform as a thing of shreds and patches.—What a rebuke to the Northern fanatical and incendiary talkers, critics and slang-whangers—that the man of war should be looked to as the one best fitted "to settle the nation." The sword of the American Cromwell may yet be required to hush the clamors of an American "Rump."—Richmond Whig.

REJECTION OF HON. HENRY STANBERY.—The Senate yesterday prepetrated an outrage which, in malignity and injustice, is not excelled by any of the monstrous abuses of numerical power which have signalized the rule of tyranny and outrage on the part of the Radical majority in that chamber.

Mr. Stanbery is known throughout the whole Union as a most eminent and distinguished jurist, whose professional ability and high personal character have shed lustre upon the bar of the United States. Exemplary in private life, and adorning the social sphere with rare virtues, he belongs to that old and exceptional school of public men who are deservedly regarded as models, and whose worth and fame form a part of the national distinction.

The President nominated him for the position which he recently honored, and from which he voluntarily withdrew in order to take part in the impeachment trial; and now he has been shamefully rejected, and for no other reason than because he discharged that duty with fidelity and zeal, and with an ability which dwarfed and defeated the impeachers. A disappointed and partisan majority has revenged itself upon a pure and honorable man, the latches of whose shoes they are not worthy to loose.—Nat. Intel.

THE LATE EX-PRESIDENT BUCHANAN.—The papers of all parties, with few exceptions, pay appropriate tributes to the memory of the late ex-President Buchanan. The Philadelphia Ledger, in giving an interesting sketch of his life, remarks:

"He was regular and methodical in all his habits, rising at six o'clock in the morning, and having every part of the day regularly allotted to its particular work, duty or leisure, until his hour for retiring, which was invariably ten o'clock. In his home life at Wheatland his manners were kind and genial, and his habits essentially domestic, although thoroughly hospitable. He made it a practice to visit all his neighbors of every station of life in the surrounding country in his regular evening walks, chatting with them about their home affairs, and was personally much beloved by them all. And last, though most important to him now, it is due to his memory to say, that under all the craft of statesmen there was a vein of religious devotion in his private life, concealed from all but those who knew him well, or who lived in his house, and this may stand him in stead, now that he has passed away from the strifes as well as the honors of this world."

SOUTHERN TRADE WITH BALTIMORE.—The Sun gives the following statement of the receipts of produce from the South at that port for the month of May:

"Of cotton there was received 2,167 bales, viz: 882 bales from Charleston, 712 bales from Norfolk, 431 bales from Savannah, 45 bales from Richmond, 24 bales from Wilmington, N. C., and 23 bales from other North Carolina ports. Of naval stores there were received 2,665 barrels rosin, 858 barrels spirits turpentine and 651 barrels pitch from Wilmington N. C.; 1,576 barrels rosin, 145 barrels turpentine, 291 barrels tar and 207 barrels pitch from other North Carolina ports; 752 barrels rosin, 791 barrels spirits turpentine and 20 barrels tar from Norfolk, and 92 barrels rosin and 50 barrels spirits turpentine from Richmond. From Richmond 1,327 hogsheads and 841 packages tobacco were received, and from Norfolk 943 packages. Besides the above, large quantities of lumber, shingles, shooks, heading, fish, early vegetables, fruits, &c., have been received from Southern ports, giving fair employment to the fleet of little steamers and sailing vessels plying to those waters."

A LESSON FOR US.—Mr. James Small, of Washington City, voted the Conservative ticket Monday. It is stated that on Mr. Small appearing at the post-office Tuesday morning to resume his duties as letter-carrier, he was ordered to leave immediately. But if a Southern man discharges a negro for voting to disfranchise him, some arbitrary military satrap declares that the public shall be taxed to support the negro. This is a free country.

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

ASSETS, $9,000,000.

No. POLICIES 52,700.

DIVISIBLE SURPLUS $1,884,768,51.

DIVIDENDS, 50 per cent.

In these days of competition between Life Insurance Companies, much is said by rival Agents, each claiming that company he represents to be the best. Without saying anything in disparagement of any Company, or, by simple assertion, anything in its favor, the ÆTNA begs leave to refer to the annexed table, compiled from the OFFICIAL and SWORN statements of twenty of the largest Companies in America, made to the Insurance Commissioners of the State of New York. The table shows the ratio of expense to each $100 received by each Company, for the three years ending January 1, 1868.

It will be seen that the expenses of the Ætna are much lower than any other Company; and after the average is struck, the Ætna, in 1868, saved $10 11 out of each $100 received—more than the average; in 1866, $7 19, and in 1867, $4 90. The receipts of the Ætna were, in 1865, $1,655,309; in 1866, $3,522,576, and in 1867, $4,729,447. Consequently, its savings in the three years were $877,893.30, to which add 7 per cent. interest to July 1, 1868: $120,287.64, making a grand total of $797,987.93 saved over the average of all other Companies.

This is the measure of success, as applied by the Hon Elizur Wright, the greatest of American actuaries, to all Companies, and simply means that the Company whose RATIO of expense to its income is the least is the best able to pay large dividends to its policy holders. That the Ætna is THAT Company, these comparisons of official statements plainly show.

EX-GOV. SEYMOUR returned to the City, on yesterday, from his visit to the University. He leaves to day. We are pleased to learn that he was much gratified with the attentions shown him at Chapel Hill and with the various exercises on the occasion.

CHIEF-JUSTICE CHASE.—We learn that the rumor, to which we referred, a day or two since, that it is the purpose of the Chief Justice to be present, during the pending Term of the Federal Court, is correct. He will probably be in Raleigh in the course of a week.

THE UNIVERSITY.—The exercises of the Commencement of the University of North Carolina closed on Thursday afternoon last. We learn that the Commencement was well attended, and the exercises are highly spoken of. There were twenty graduates, and the class is regarded as a talented one, and above the average classes of the Institution. Anticipating a full account of the exercises from a highly competent source, we suspend a further notice.

We learn that the Board of Trustees resolved to continue the exercises of the Institution, until their powers were superseded by higher authority. The entire Faculty resigned their positions, last Fall, but the Board unanimously requested them to continue in their several relations for the present.

Arrangements will be made in due time to advertise the public of the beginning of the next session, &c.

SIMPSON'S BAKERY.—Are our citizens generally aware that there is, in Raleigh, at present, the best Bakery, by all odds, that we have ever had? if not, let us tell them that Wm. Simpson, at his Bakery, near the Central Depot, is conducting that business, in all its departments, in the most admirable style. He manufactures bread, in all its shapes of loaf, twist, roll and biscuit, of the most superior quality,—white, sweet and inviting. In the fancy line, his work is everything that can be desired. Cakes of all kinds and descriptions, plain and ornamented, can be had from him at all hours, and orders for families, parties, &c., will be promptly executed. Any such orders, if left at the store of Messrs. Bradley & Christophers, Fayetteville Street, will receive immediate attention.

Good bread is a blessing—and it can now be had. We speak "by the card." We use it, and can honestly recommend it.

MAYOR'S COURT.—J. Booker Hutchings, a leading colored individual among the Radicals of this city, was brought before his Honor, the Mayor, on yesterday, charged with uttering and passing upon S. D. Harrison, Merchant, of this city, a forged order for the sum of three dollars and fifty cents, purporting to be signed by Jno. T. Deweese. Booker was required to give bond and security, in the sum of $500, to make his personal appearance at the next Term of the Superior Court for Wake county to answer the charge.

It is but due to Booker to say that he positively denied any intention to perpetrate a forgery; that he stated that Col. Deweese and the Radical wire workers owed him for electioneering services; and that he supposed, in his ignorance of such matters, that he was adopting the proper form of drawing on Col. Deweese, and that his claim would be honored, as the services had been rendered.

Col. Deweese, we learn, subsequently paid the amount of the order and became Booker's security for his appearance.

QUICK DISPATCH.—A gentleman informs us that he left Baltimore, on Monday evening, with a number of mules. He arrived here on the next evening, (Tuesday,) and, early on Wednesday morning, he was informed that his mules had arrived and were in the stables. He came by the Express train and the mules by the regular freight trains of the Raleigh and Gaston and Roanoke and Seaboard Railroads. Such dispatch and promptness render the regular freight train all that can be desired on these Roads.

An announcement of the Seaboard Road, relative to its charges for freight on Rosin, &c., will appear on Monday.

STATE NEWS.

The regular election for officers of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of North Carolina, now in session at Wilmington, took place on Wednesday. The following were chosen for the ensuing year, viz:

Dr. W. G. Hill, Raleigh, G. H. P.
Wm. Murdock, Salisbury, D. G. H. P.
Henry K. Nash, Hillsboro', G. K.
Thos. M. Gardner, Wilmington, G. S.
Thos. W. Brown, " G. Treas'r.
Dr. Thos. B. Carr, " G. Sec'y.
Jno. D. Flanner, Newbern, G. Marshal
Thos. B. Keogh, Greensboro', G. P. S.
E. H. White, Charlotte, G. R. A. C.
W. A. Smith, Wadesboro', G. M. 3d V.

Edward Dalby, Granville, G. M. 1st V.
E. Turlington, Wilmington, G. Tyler.

A proposition to remove the place of meeting of the Grand Chapter from Wilmington to Raleigh was defeated.

A soldier of Co. K., 40th Infantry, colored troops, was drowned, near Goldsboro, on Wednesday, while attempting to swim across the Neuse River.

The Wilmington Post says that the violation of General Military Orders, concerning carrying deadly weapons, is on the increase in that section.

The Wilmington Star says that New Hanover Court House is "the filthiest place in all creation."

Three negroes lodged in Guilford County jail for robbing Mr. Davis' mill.

The young men of Charlotte are organizing a brass band.

There was quite a severe hurricane in Caswell, on Friday of last week, and a violent hail storm on Wednesday. In a portion of Person, the latter was also severe.

There is a Pennsylvanian in Caswell, who is authorized to make arrangements for the immigration of thirty white families into that county, should sufficient encouragement be presented. A meeting of the farmers of the county, for the purpose of exchanging views on the policy of this move, was to have come off at Yanceyville, on Tuesday.

Col. C. T. Ames' New Orleans Menagerie and Circus exhibits in Salisbury on the 17th. In Raleigh about the 26th.

Leasburg, in Caswell county, has four Tobacco Factories in operation, which paid the Government, last year, a revenue tax of one hundred and thirty thousand dollars.

D. F. Caldwell, Esq. has disposed of the Greensboro Patriot office to Messrs. J. W. Albright & Bro., of the Times, who will continue the publication of the Patriot as heretofore. Mr. Caldwell retires from editorial life, with the view of devoting his time exclusively to the practice of his profession,—the law. We wish our excellent friend an abundance of fees and much happiness. Success to Albright & Bro.

They have in Greensboro', in full and successful operation, an Axe-Handle, Spoke and Shingle Manufacturing Company. The Patriot says of it:

"Messrs. Snow and Lawson employ from twenty to twenty-five hands in their factory, and they all work. Everything in the house seems to be in motion, and it is refreshing, in these dull and monotonous times, to see the activity manifested on every hand. Axe, pick, sledge hammer, hatchet, adz handles, spokes, joint shingles and blocks for the manufacture of weaver's shuttles are turned out daily in large quantities. While there, we saw several cars laden with pick and axe handles and started on their way to California, where thousands of dozens of others will soon follow them.—Messrs. Snow and Lawson are Massachusetts men, and though they may have their own peculiar political views, we have seen no reason why any one should find fault with them on this account, as they do not improperly intrude themselves or their politics upon any one or the public. We only wish we had thousands of such enterprising and deserving men of experience and means in our State."

Special to the Petersburg Express.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A citizen named Thomas was killed at ten o'clock last night.

The Intelligencer building is guarded on account of an apprehended attack from the negroes.

Two thousand Baltimoreans have tendered their services to quell the riot when called.

G.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS.—This establishment has arrived and exhibits this afternoon and evening. Here is what the Greensboro' Times says of it:

"Alex. Robinson's Great South-Western Circus exhibited in this place, on Tuesday. The troupe is not as large, nor the external out fit so grand as some, yet the performance was as good as usual. We understand an entire new equipment is awaiting him in Raleigh, when Mr. Robinson will again be enabled to maintain his former reputation of presenting the most gorgeous display and best circus troupe extant."

INFLUENCING THE VOTES OF SENATORS ON THE IMPEACHMENT.—The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Journal says:

The following laconic messages, which passed over the wires between Parson Brownlow, of Tennessee, and Gen. Stokes, will be produced by the Democrats if they can get a hearing before the nosing committee:

KNOXVILLE, May 3.
How will Fowler vote?
W. G. BROWNLOW.
WASHINGTON, May 3.
Don't know. Think he's all right.
W. B. STOKES.
KNOXVILLE, May 4.
If you ain't certain, pump him.
W. G. BROWNLOW.
WASHINGTON, May 4.
I can't. He wont discuss the question.—I fear he is shaky.
W. B. STOKES.
KNOXVILLE, May 5.
Tell him if he'll resign and let me appoint you in his place, I'll make him Judge of the Supreme Court in place of Harrison, who will make way for him.
W. G. BROWNLOW.
WASHINGTON, May 6.
He won't resign.
W. B. STOKES.
KNOXVILLE, May 6.
Not profanely, but religiously, tell him to go to hell.
W. G. BROWNLOW.

The Chicago Committee that visited Gen. Grant last Friday must have been a nasty set. They ruined the carpet on which they stood; for after they had cleared out, it was found covered over with stumps of cigars and drenched with tobacco juice.

"EATON'S FORMS."

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The writer of this was recently asked, by a young member of the Bar, whether the contemplated changes in our Judiciary system would not render valueless the Books of Forms prepared by Mr. Eaton, and whether it would be advisable to purchase it. As this is a North Carolina Book, which reflects credit upon the profession in the State, I trust you will allow me a short space in your paper to call attention to the misapprehension which may exist as to its future usefulness, to the minds of others, besides the querist above alluded to.

It may be that, in some degree, its value will be impaired by the proposed innovations, but even then, to the profession in North Carolina, and especially the younger members, it will be an invaluable book, and no lawyer should be without a copy of it.—Whatever changes may be made, there must still be some "Form" and system, and the Forms and notes, with the full references to authorities, contained in Mr. Eaton's book, render it, by far, the most valuable manual to the North Carolina lawyer to be found. Indeed, it is but a very small portion of the work, the value of which will be impaired.

I know of no book, in which a reference to all the authorities upon the subjects embraced can be so easily and so conveniently found, and this feature alone would render it very valuable. Besides the matter relating to pleadings, there are a great many Forms that, under any change, must continue of every day practice and use—such as relate to the Transcript of Records, Probates of Deeds and Wills, writs of Habeas Corpus, Writs and Declarations in the United States Courts, Petitions, and a vast number of miscellaneous subjects. A copy of it ought to be in every Clerk's office—by the use of it, much trouble and expense would be saved, both to Clerks and to suitors. It is an accurate and safe guide. To every lawyer engaged in the practice of his profession it is worth far more than the cost of it.

The well-known character of its author for learning and worth would commend the book to the confidence of the profession, but, in addition, it has met the sanction and praise of the ablest Judges and lawyers of the State.

An examination of the book will show that it has been prepared with great care, and it has been neatly and accurately published, at considerable cost. It is a great mistake to suppose that any contemplated changes will destroy its value, and every lawyer and Clerk in the State ought to have a copy of it.

THE CRISIS.

Surely we have fallen upon one of the most trying times in our history—when every branch of business in the State is perfectly paralyzed, and when men look upon each other with wonder and astonishment, without confidence or even respect. And to think, after all that has been endured and consummated, after all the privation, suffering and loss by our people of their property, and the means of subsistence, (which was not by their own act,) that there are found persons, devoid of the milk of human kindness, who still press down upon their fellow men, demanding the last dollar of debt, which was created on the faith of the property which has been torn from them!—Is it not lamentable and truly hard, that men should so far forget the golden rule, as still to continue to press and harrass their fellow-men, without the least compunction of conscience, when they know they are powerless to pay the demands upon them? Have we no patriots, who will meet the issue and propose compromises, without stripping their friends of their all, so as to enable them to pursue some avocation for support? Would it not be wisdom in the Legislature to come to the rescue of the people in their down-trodden condition, and aid them, in a spirit of compromise, by taxing old debts to a certain amount, provided a settlement of some kind is not made by a given time? This plan is a feasible one and would enable the people to make such arrangements as would secure confidence and prosperity, instead of bankruptcy.—Under such an arrangement, all would get a portion, and the people be enabled to pursue their business to the liquidation of their claims. Or will those in authority sit quietly down and witness the utter destruction of their fellow citizens? I hope not. Look at your neighbors—bankrupt—their little all being swept from them, and reflect that it is by our own act that we are distressing and making paupers of our fellow men?—Make room for one ray of hope to cheer them onward to renewed exertions.

SENEX.

For the Sentinel.

To the County Commissioners lately elected in the State of North Carolina:—We address you as friends. We are honest when we say, that we are anxious to see the affairs of each County in the State ably, fairly and impartially managed. This, you know, cannot be done, except by competent men. Now, you know that, in many counties, competent Commissioners have not been selected. In some of the counties, not one of the five Commissioners elected is capable of doing the business which they will be called upon to transact. Now, our object in addressing you is, most respectfully, to ask that some one or two of you, who have been elected Commissioners for your County, who know that you are incapable, will resign or decline to accept the appointment, so that some one or two others, who are competent, may be chosen in your stead. If men of the same politics of those of you who may decline to serve can be found, who are capable, why, let them be chosen; if not, let others be selected, as it is not a political office. Comply with our request, and you will do yourselves honor and your country service.

We would extend this request to some of the newly elected Judges, but their salary precludes the idea of this compliance.

MANY CITIZENS.

The Freedmen's Bureau employs seven hundred and three agents and clerks, whose aggregate salaries are $809,340 per annum. Of these sixty-four are in Washington, at a cost of $90,000 per annum; and in addition there are fifty-six others, at a cost of $53,-640. Maryland has only nine, at a cost of $11,700 per annum; while Virginia has fifty-three, at a cost of $61,180. Altogether the bureau and military cost $11,000,000 per year of the people's money.

A GOOD POINT FOR THE DEMOCRATS.—In the Senate, Monday, while the Arkansas bill was up, an amendment was offered by Mr. Henderson providing, in effect, that no discrimination shall be made merely on account of race or color, but that the State may prescribe an educational qualification, and provide separate schools for the two races; which was rejected—5 to 30.

Gen. Grant has written a letter to the House Committee on Military Affairs, recommending a renewal of the increase of thirty-three and one-third per cent in the pay of army officers. The law which gives this increase now expires by limitation on the 30th of June.

Anna Dickinson has written a novel which the Messrs. Scribner have refused to publish, because there is miscegenation in it, for which the publishers think the public is hardly prepared.

GIGANTIC POWERS AND PATRONAGE.

WASHINGTON, June 5, M.

The first section of the Tax Bill is amended, so that the Commissioner of Revenue can neither be suspended nor removed, except by the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Commissioner's salary is $6,000. He will have unrestrained control of 4,100 officials, whose salaries aggregate $6,500,000, and who handle $200,000,000 per annum.

Mr. Garfield, in moving to strike out the section denounced it as awfully monstrous.

FUNERAL OF EX-PRESIDENT BUACHNAN—HIS LAST MOMENTS, &C.

LANCASTER, PENN., June 5, M.

Mr Buchanan's funeral was very imposing.—There were many delegations from abroad. The Masons assisted throughout, and their funeral ceremonies accompanied the religious rites.

On the Saturday previous to his decease, while giving directions to his Executor regarding his funeral, Mr. Buchanan said: "The principles of the Christian religion were instilled into my mind in my youth, and from all I have observed and experienced, in the long life Providence has vouchsafed to me, I have only become more strengthened in my conviction of the Divine character of the Savior, and the power of Atonement, through His redeeming grace and mercy."

Responding to the expressed hope that he might live to see the country fully restored, Mr. Buchanan said: "I have no fear of the future. Posterity will do me full justice. I have always felt, and still feel, that I discharged every public duty imposed upon me conscientiously. I have no regret for any public act of my life and history will vindicate my memory from every unjust aspersion."

His last words were: "Oh! God Almighty, as Thou will!"

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 5, P. M.

SENATE.—Memorials from the California Mechanic Association, and, also, three thousand citizens, North and South, for eight hours work in Government shops, were presented.

The Omnibus bill was up.

Trumbull explained why Alabama was erased. Regarding Florida, which was added, Trumbull said: "Meade reported the majority for the Constitution at five thousand and fifty."

Wilson moved to insert Alabama.

Sherman and Stewart favored the amendment.

Morton favored an early admission of Alabama, but feared the insertion would jeopardize the whole bill. He would vote against the amendment, but would favor a separate bill for Alabama's immediate admission.

Wilson denounced the provision under which Alabama voted, in harsh terms, as absurb.

Quite a harsh debate arose among the Republicans who had favored the clause requiring a majority of the registered voters to ratify the Constitution.

Without action, the Senate went into Executive session and adjourned.

Wade appointed Trumbull, Drake and Williams the Committee on the Arkansas Bill.

HOUSE.—After unimportant business, the Tax Bill was resumed.

Wood moved that the Commissioner shall not appoint a Revenue officer, in any District, without consulting its Congressional representative; which was rejected.

Butler said: "When he believed what would benefit his party would not benefit the country, he would leave his country." (Cries from Democrats, "Don't come on our side.")

Butler opposed the bill and denied the right of Congress to legislate any man in as head of the Department.

Schenck said: "If Butler's views prevailed the whole bill would be destroyed. He opposed the continuance of the system allowing the President to make all appointments."

Peters wanted the section stricken out. He believed the bill was wrong in principle. The best way to prevent fraud was to reduce the whisky tax.

Several members argued that the passage of the law would legislate Rollins out of office.

Finally the sixth section, conferring the appointing power on Rollins, was stricken out—64 to 45.

After further discussion, indicating wide diversity of opinion as to the reduction of the Whiskey Tax, the House took a recess to 7 o'clock.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 5, P. M.

The President received Mr. Burlingame and the Chinese Commission this evening.

Full Cabinet meeting to-day.

The President has nominated John H. Milson as United States Attorney for Virginia.

Capt. John L. Worden, of Monitor notoriety was confirmed as Commodore, and Commodore Thomas Turner as Rear Admiral.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, June 5, P. M.

The "Ocean Queen" has arrived with one million and two hundred thousand dollars in gold.

The Yellow Fever kills two hundred daily at Lima. Business is suspended. Capt. Blakely, inventor of the Blakely gun, his wife, and several prominent merchants, are among the victims.

FROM CANADA—FENIAN SCARE INCREASING.

MONTREAL, June 5, P. M.

The Fenian scare is increasing.

A flying column, of four companies of regulars and two Battalions of Volunteers, are here, under orders to move at a moment's notice. Quebec Volunteers are prepared in every respect for the campaign.

A large force of Regulars go to Prescott next week.

At Athlone, Canada the Fenian sympathizers are jubilant. They expect an invasion before the 20th instant.

Two men were arrested at Sweetsburg, with maps and papers, implicating them as Fenians.

MALONE, N. Y. June 5, P. M.

Fenian fairs are to be gotten up here and at St. Albans to cover movements of the Fenians.

Large quantities of arms are arriving here and elsewhere.

Prominent Feians say that with this month they will have a large force and sure footing in Canada.

OTTAWA, June 5, P. M.

Authentic information is received here of the transfer of Fenian arms from St. Albans to points along the frontier.

An order transferring three Companies of rifles from Quebec to Ottawa, was countermanded.

TO LAND OWNERS.

HAVING BEEN APPOINTED, BY THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL AND MINERAL LAND COMPANY, Agent for all that part of North Carolina lying east of and including Catawba C nnty, I am authorized to say to any person or persons having 2,000 acres in one body, partially cleared each near a Rail Road, that if they will subdivide their lands the Company will purchase alternate lots at their assessed value for taxation or as ascertained by two disinterested parties, paying for the same in the Company's stock—the Company obligating itself to place a white settler on every 200 acres, so acquired, within three years, or, failing to do so, such land unsettled to revert to the original owners; the owner to retain possession until the land is settled.

The object of this system is to bring into the State an industrious and thrifty population and to enhance the value of our lands. It has been adopted in other States and is said to be working finely.

This Company was chartered by our Legislature of 1866. Land owners will please address me for particulars at Reidsville, N. C.

OUT OF SERVICE.

A creature out of work, in beggary
To Thee I come,
O, King of Kings, find room and use for me
In thy great home!

Scarce skilled to serve and please my fellow men,
On Thee to wait
I offer me. In mercy let me in,
Ere 'tis too late.

Though somewhat I be rusty, dull and frail,
Do not refuse me;
No weapon in Almighty hands can fail;
O, Maker, use me.

Draw out the music from my heart-strings mute,
Notes high and glad
Of thanks and praise; or, if it better suit,
Low, sweet and sad.

My jangled chords a tuner's care and pain
Too much require;
But, good or bad, the player makes the strain
More than the lyre.

Speak unto me. The hardest rocks fall off
The best resound;
Thy voice may to some answering heart more soft,
From mine rebound.

Or break me with thine awful rod apart,
If only so
Thy living waters through my stony heart
May weeping flow.

And forth anon, the world's dry places through,
Untainted leap,
And give betime to drink and live snow
Christ's fainting sheep.

I shiver through my show of leaves whene'er
The year comes round
"Why cumbereth it"—I ever fear to hear—
"The groaning ground?"

The hungering husbandman too oft hath passed;
He seeks my fruit
And tills my clod in vain. The axe at last
Lies at my root.

THE WORD OF GOD ABIDETH FOREVER.

We find the following beautiful thought in the North British Review:

"It is a matter of congratulation that the Bible has passed triumphantly through the ordeal of verbal criticism. English infidels of the last century raised a premature pean over the discovery and publication of so many various readings. They imagined that the popular mind would be rudely and thoroughly shaken, that Christianity would be placed in imminent peril of extinction, and that the Church would be dispersed, and ashamed at the sight of its Magna Charta. But the result has blasted all their hopes, and the oracles of God are found to have been preserved in immaculate integrity.

"The storm which shakes the oak only loosens the earth around its roots, and its violence enables the tree to strike its roots deeper in the soil.

"So it is that Scripture has gloriously surmounted every trial. These gather around the Bible a dense "cloud of witnesses," from the ruins of Nineva and the valley of the Nile; from the slabs and bas-reliefs of Sennacherib, and tombs and mountains of Pharoah; from rolls of Chaldee paraphrast, and Syrian versionists; from the cells and libraries of monastic scribes, and the dry and dusty labors of scholars and antiquarians.

"Our present Bibles are undisputed by the lapse of ages. Her oracles written amid such strange diversity of time, place and condition—among the sands and cliffs of Arabia, the fields and hills of Palestine—in the palaces of Babylon, and in the dungeons of Rome—have come to us in such unimpaired fullness and accuracy, that we are placed as advantageously toward them as the generation which hung on the lips of Jesus, as He recited a parable on the shores of the Galilean lake, or those churches which received from Paul or Peter one of their epistles of warning exposition.

"Yes! the river of life, which issues out from beneath the throne of God and the Lamb, as it flows through so many countries, sometimes bears with it the earthly evidences of its conquests, but the great volume of its waters has neither been diminished, nor dimmed in its transparency, nor bereft of its healing virtue."

GROWING OLD.

We perused an article in one of our exchanges the other day, under the above caption, in which the writer lamented the inevitable decree that sets up the milestones of the years behind, and brings us near to the silent close of our journey. To us the thought suggested a different train of reflection. We do not feel that it is a sad thing to grow old.

As we go forward and meet the years, each is a messenger that tells us a pleasant story of the land to which we have taken up our pilgrimage, and though we may not lay hands upon them and detain them, yet they imbue us with happy thoughts and memories, that clothe each coming messenger in a halo-like garment of smiles and beauty. The journey of life is but short, but is long enough to teach us the idleness and littleness of things earthly, and that the earthly tabernacle is far too narrow to hold in that thrall that invisible hue of immortality that pulses through our being, or even permit it to shine forth in that brilliancy that it so much longs for.

Life is beautiful, but it is only beautiful as a panorama that moves on to the great final climax, when the curtains of eternity are drawn, and the marvellous beauty of the universe opens with its endless vistas of glory upon our enlarged sight, and dreams of the past are paled from view in the blaze of the never ending Present. The toy, the sword and the toy, make up the sum of our existence, for the old and young are nearest heaven. Prattling children and silver age walk hand in hand, and laugh at the gamboling lambs and make pretty speeches to the bright birds and butterflies, for the veil of Time is but a mist to the right and to the left of them, and Love and Innocence stand like cherubs by the cradle and the grave.

It is only when we are among the tropical clouds of the Middle Passage of life that we utterly forget the emblems of innocence and turn the edge of the sword against the unwarring armies of Beauty. And this we do out of very blindness, for when we pass the mountain summit and go down the gentle plain toward the gold and amethyst pillars of the sunset, we cast the sword behind us and reach forth for the flowers that wave and beckon us onward.

There is nothing more touching and beautiful than age. The bent form, the feeble, tottering step, the dimmed eye and the child like confidence of the aged speak to every heart, not dead to every human emotion, with a wonderful power and pathos. We do not envy the feelings of that person who can say a slight word to or of the aged of every condition in life, and whose strong hand is not held out to them at every rough corner and every narrow crossing. Not many days since we saw a beautiful girl, having almost the form and resemblance of an angel, rudely jostle a poor, decrepid old dame on the sidewalk, and tell her in tones of petulance to keep out of her way. That girl's bright eyes will yet be dim, and lusterless, and her fair round shoulders bent with the weight of years and the burdens of life, and if her life's sunset is cold and obscure with clouds, it will be because she herself, in the bloom of youth, poisoned the chalice with a suicidal hand. Of all to be loved and cherished, and kindly cared for, the aged are first deserving, for they have borne their share of the burdens, and their patient old eyes are only waiting to see the gates lifted up, when they will be closed in an ecstacy of love. We grow old, but only that we may rehabilitate ourselves with the garments of an endless youth.

THE DAILY CROSS.—The difficulty in religion is the taking up of the cross daily, rather than the taking it up on some set occasion, and under extraordinary circumstances. The serving God in little things; the carrying of religious principles into all the minutiæ of discipline of our tempers, the regulation of our speech, the domestic Christianity, the momentary sacrifices, the secret and unobserved self-denials; who that knows any thing of the difficulty of piety does not know that there is greater danger of his falling in these than in trials of far greater cost and sterner endurance! It is not, comparatively, hard to put the armor on, when the trumpet sounds, but it is to keep the armor on, when there is no alarm of battle. And the warfare with our spiritual enemies is not warfare in a series of pitched battles, with intervals for resting and recruiting; but it is rather daily, hourly, momentary fighting; this is the driving out "by little," to which the Almighty promises "the reward of the inheritance."

MEN'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S HATS,

Ladies, Men and Children's Shoes, why if you stop at Creech's you will surely be suited in style, quality and price.

I told the people, some time ago, that there was no House in the City that could or would sell goods cheaper than I, and now I intend to keep my word. I said then what I meant, and now mean what I say. So don't fail to come to CREECH'S, on R. Smith's corner.

SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
